

Financial Technology Law Review

Our bank and finance team at NJORD have authored this practical chapter for the well-respected and known Law Reviews within the field of Financial Technologies (also known as “Fintech”). Technology applied in the financial field creates innovative and lucrative business models while also imposing new legal challenges.

The Danish chapter provides an in depth overview of the relevant Danish regulatory framework in the field as well guidance as to how one should navigate in this very new and rapidly developing area.

Read our financial technology law review